MEDICAL FACULTY

UNIVERSITY OF MCGILL COLLEGE.

THE Course of Medical Instruction in McGill College is to commence on Monday, November 7, and to be continued, as usual, to the end of April.

The Faculty consider it unnecessary to enter into detail in reference to the means at their command for affording to students, who shall select their school, the opportunity of acquiring a thorough knowledge of their profession. The list of Lecturers, on the 3rd page, shows the extent and completeness of their Curriculum, and the fulness with which the subjects are treated; while its length (viz., four years) gives assurance that these subjects will be well grounded in the minds of the Students. It may be made an objection that the long period required is expensive and burdensome to the Student, and unnecessarily prolonged; but when the great extension lately given to Medical Science is considered; the great number of branches to be studied; and the importance in after-life of a thorough knowledge, previous to entering upon the arduous and responsible duties of practice, which very generally impede or prevent further study, it is thought that the advantages must greatly overbalance any inconveniences which may arise from the length of the course of study. It is a duty of those engaged in Medical instruction to seek to impress upon their pupils, that Medicine is something more than a mere routine or empirical application of rules, and that the judgments and decisions of the practitioner should be founded on proper scientific knowledge and deduction. Adequate knowledge of the varied subjects embraced in Medical education cannot be obtained without a proportionate allowance of time; and retention of knowledge is generally known to be in a ratio to the time employed in acquiring it. For these reasons, the Faculty have recommended the extended course which their statutes now enjoin, and which they trust will tend to the still further elevation of the Profession in the social scale.

This subject has been particularly dwelt upon in consequence of four years having elapsed since the present statutes were sanctioned, and there being now few Students who can claim to be exempted from their operation on the plea of having commenced study before they were promulgated.

Additional facilities for instruction continue to be afforded by the increase of Apparatus, and by the augmentation of the Library and Museum; to the former of which there have been added, during the year, 146 volumes, making a whole of upwards of 2000 volumes, among which are found not only the most valuable works for reference, but recent standard works on all the departments of Medical Literature, and, moreover, those elementary works which are chiefly adapted for pupils—the use of which they are allowed without charge.

Besides the gradual increase of Anatomical and Pathological preparations, furnished by the opportunities of those connected with the College, it is expected that a considerable number of Anatomical and Pathological Preparations in WAX, ordered from Paris, will arrive before the commencement of the Session.

A number of Microscopical preparations have also been ordered from London.

Clinical Instruction in Medicine and Surgery will be given at the Montreal General Hospital.

The Lying-in Hospital will be found to afford opportunity of acquiring practical knowledge in Midwifery.

The Dissecting Room is furnished with all the necessary conveniences; and, being lighted with Gas, allows the attendance to be continued through the evening.

Finally, the various Courses of Lectures will be illustrated and assisted by the use of Apparatus (Chemical and Philosophical), Preparations, Plates, Herbarium, Microscopes, Specimens of the Materia Medica, &c. &c.

The Tickets of this University are received by the British Colleges, and by those of the United States, whose Tickets, under similar regulations, are likewise received by McGill College.

Boarding may be had for from $8 to $16 per Month.
